

Isle of Wight Educational Trip

8th – 12th June 2015

...that's, 'EDUCATIONAL' ladies and gentlemen.

Monday...

...and the excitement builds...

Look children! Look how happy they are...

This one is 'two handed happy'!

Especially this one...

So I said, “Luke, if you carry on wearing your hat the wrong way round, your head WILL go funny...”

Max + sandwich =

Max + history =

Right to Go. et it?

After a gruelling three hours of torturous holidaying / educationalising, the first sleeper appeared...

...which was punishable by stretching...

Smile club...

Unsmile club...

Touch down!

Once we arrived we went to the park for a bit of a play...where strange things happened...

Lucy crashed into a tree...

...Jade was abducted by aliens and teleported to the mother ship...

...while Iris decided to keep Ruby in her rucksack...

Tuesday

Half way up the hill and this one appears to be weakening...

Still they kept dropping! I tell you, It was carnage ...

After 3 hours in the sun, Bonnie succumbed to her inner vampire...

The ship was restored to condition.

Man has become a popular attraction during the reign of Queen Victoria who was to be on the Isle of Wight in 1843. Victoria was ill and had to be with the royal family at the time of the visit. Man has been a great help in the restoration of the ship.

Alice 'Slick-Fingers' Martin has a forage for Bonnie's wallet...

In scenes reminiscent of the air borne landings on D-Day, Year 6 descended upon Alum beach...

Teachers can look good too you know...

A small group of witches began to chant a strange spell...

...which soon turned into a powerful coven...

...that raised an army of zombies...

...but the magic was too strong and the witches began to loose control...

...which caused mayhem with Jade's hair...

...in a last ditch attempt to salvage the situation, Lucy went rogue and tried to reverse the effects on her own...

...with disastrous effects...

See how she cackles with evilness!

...onlookers were unimpressed...

...so Lucy was bound by the feet...

...until the wise old White Sorceress, rose from the sea and offered Arthur as a sacrifice by stretching him...

...bringing joy and harmony to the boat once more...

This sauropod footprint is genuinely about 80-100 million years old!

Enemies at the Gate!

Here are three soldiers who defended Carisbrook Castle at different times.
Which do you think is the best?

The Elf King plotted his next dastardly plan...

While his arch enemies 'Brains' and 'Deep Thought' considered their next move...

Arthur was a little slow up the steps which was punishable of course, by stretching...

Advance! Advance!

Retreat! Retreat!

What could possibly be lurking behind these leaves?

Oh crikey!

Okay, we're not quite sure what happened here but it started like this...

...which became this...

...which ended like this...

...which made Mrs Hannigan do this...

The Cow express!

I told Arthur and Ruby that I'd asked the guy to turn the ride up to 11!

They were pretty excited!

After this high octane ride
Ruby announced...

“I think I want to hit you with my hat...”

Apparently, the sewers on the Isle of Wight are overrun with strange childlike life forms so we lifted up a manhole cover to see for ourselves...

That was me being victorious on the slides...

And here's one of me triumphantly leading another race...

FOR YOUR SAFETY PLEASE

NO CHILDREN UNDER 5 ON SLIDES.
NO CLIMBING UP THE SLIDES.
ONLY ONE AT A TIME ON THE SLIDES.
DO NOT CARRY CHILDREN DOWN SLIDES
DO NOT GO DOWN SLIDES HEAD FIRST

Let's see me again...

Sadly, there doesn't seem to be any photographic evidence of an alleged incident in which a Year 6 child apparently inched narrowly into the lead due to a technical hitch with my decent technique...

Except this one...

FOR YOUR SAFETY
PLEASE

NO CHILDREN UNDER 5 ON SLIDES.
NO CLIMBING UP THE SLIDES.
ONLY ONE AT A TIME ON THE SLIDES.
DO NOT CARRY CHILDREN DOWN.
DO NOT GO DOWN THE SLIDES.

NOT

“Alice. How cold is the sea?”

Faaadge!!!

What happens when you get on the wrong side of Mr Sharman?

What if you're a repeat offender?

At low tide, it's quite common to find 'Quinns' and 'Busbies' growing naturally along the shoreline...

The twirking begins...

Still going...

Looks like he just twirled onto a cactus!

One, two, three...Ooooooooooooooooooooooooooooo!!!

I know, I saw it.

One minute....

Just in case any parents didn't believe you, here is a photo of us standing with the actual real life Hollywood blockbuster film star...Johnny Depp!!!

Just for good measure, Arthur was stretched for one last time...

Promise to come back and see What a wonderful time we had.
us so we can remember together.
